To: Mr. Dennis Dugas

(general@porthardy.ca)

Dear Mr. Dugas:

Thank you for your correspondence of January 9, 2019 to the Honourable Navdeep Bains, Minister of Innovation, Science and Economic Development (ISED), where you express your support for cell phone service along Highway 19. Minister Bains has asked me to respond to you on his behalf.

The government's telecommunications policy is focused on three core objectives of quality, coverage, and affordability. It is important that our networks can support the latest applications; that they are available to all Canadians in the communities where they live and work; and that wireless service prices are affordable.

The Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) has recently taken action to support rural and remote coverage to help meet the needs of Canadians. Following extensive consultations, the CRTC released a decision in December 2016 setting out a universal service objective. The objective is for Canadians in urban, rural and remote areas to have access to broadband Internet services on fixed and wireless networks.

The decision includes encouraging wireless providers to deploy the latest mobile wireless technology to not just Canadian homes and businesses, but to as many major roads as possible. In support of this, the CRTC, is launching a new $750 million Broadband Fund to build or upgrade broadband infrastructure in underserved areas. The CRTC will approve high-quality projects for fixed and mobile wireless services in eligible areas and meeting specified criteria through a competitive process. These projects are anticipated to improve affordable access in these areas once completed. The first call for applications will be in 2019. Further information on the Broadband Fund is available on the CRTC's website https://crtc.gc.ca/eng/internet/internet.htm.

Further, in 2016 the federal government launched the Connect to Innovate (CTI) program which will extend and enhance broadband service in rural and remote communities across Canada. CTI will invest $500 million by 2021, with a focus on supporting new backbone infrastructure projects that connect public institutions, such as schools, hospitals, and First Nation band offices. High-capacity backbone infrastructure can also help service providers support improved speeds and service quality for surrounding households, businesses, and mobile wireless users.

As part of its support for the expansion of mobile wireless services to rural and remote areas, the government is continuing to auction spectrum to increase its availability to wireless providers. The amount of spectrum available to provide mobile services to consumers has grown by almost 60 percent since early 2014. This is the largest amount of spectrum ever released in such a short time in Canada to address growing consumer demand for mobile services.

Building on these efforts, we recently announced that the upcoming 600MHz spectrum auction will set aside 43 percent of the spectrum for regional competitors and potential new wireless entrants. This band carries signals over longer distances and is excellent for delivering commercial mobile services in rural and remote areas. However, as you note, there are often commercial challenges in expanding coverage to these areas which is why the government has taken action to support and incentivize service providers in serving these parts of Canada.

Recently, federal, provincial and territorial ministers for innovation and economic development agreed to make broadband a priority and to develop a long-term strategy to improve access to high-speed Internet services for all Canadians. On October 26, 2018, Ministers recognized that access to high-speed Internet service is critical for businesses to grow and compete and for all Canadians to fully access the goods and services available in a digital economy. Ministers agreed to work towards universal access to high-speed Internet and improve access to the latest mobile wireless services along major roads and where Canadians live and work.

Thank you for taking the time to write to us on these important issues.

Sincerely,

As

Lisa Setlakwe Senior Assistant Deputy Minister Strategy and Innovation Policy Sector 317948

DISTRICT OF PORT HARDY STAFF REPORT

TO:

Allison McCarrick, CAO

FROM:

Heather Nelson-Smith, Director of Corporate Services

SUBJECT:

Earthquake Early Warning System (EEWS)

DATE:

March 6, 2019

BACKGROUND

A request has been made by Ocean Networks Canada to utilize a potion of land owned by the District located on Holberg Road (pictured below).

The purpose of the use is to install a stand alone Earthquake Early Warning Detection System (please see attached project rationale).

There is no request for financial support from the District of Port Hardy, set up and ongoing maintenance will be maintained by Ocean Networks

RECOMMENDATION

THAT Council permits Ocean Networks Canada to work with District staff to find a suitable location on the property legally described as THE NORTH EAST ¼ OD SECTION 26, TOWNSHIP 9, RUPERT DISTRICT, EXCEPT THOSE PARTS IN PLANS VIP54880 AND VIP56799 and enter into a five year agreement to house the Earthquake Early Warning Detection System equipment for five years with the option to renew for an additional five years.

Respectfully submitted,

OCEAN NETWORKS CANADA

District of Port Hardy Land-Use Site Proposal Plan

Project Overview

Established in 2007 as a major initiative of the University of Victoria, Ocean Networks Canada (ONC) operates world-leading ocean observatories for the advancement of science and the benefit of Canada. The observatories collect data on physical, chemical, biological, and geological aspects of the ocean over long time periods, supporting research on complex Earth processes in ways not previously possible.

ONC is funded by Emergency Management British Columbia to develop an integrated Earthquake Early Warning System (EEWS) able to provide notifications of incoming ground shaking to stakeholders in the southwest region of British Columbia. This system will utilize data from offshore and land-based sensors installed by ONC, Natural Resources Canada (NRCan) and other agencies in Canada and the USA to create warnings of ground shaking caused by earthquake events occurring on the Cascadia Subduction Zone. (Appendix A)

A land-based EEWS is composed of a network of seismic systems and GNSS stations on Vancouver Island. Each station will have a Strong Motion Accelerometer (SMA), a global navigation satellite system (GNSS) tracking receiver and the associated antenna monument, an onsite computer, as well as power management and data communication devices.

Each year, the probability of a mega-thrust earthquake increases, and following such an occurrence, aftershocks are imminent for several years to follow. As a result, ONC is seeking a 5-year land-use agreement to install, monitor, and maintain EEWS instrumentation and related equipment at the Port Hardy location (50°42'22.40"N, 127°30'53.00"W). At the end of the term and if both parties are in agreeance, ONC would like the option to extend the agreement for an additional 5-years.

Installation is proposed to take place between March 1st and April 1st, 2019.

Location Description

The proposed site is located off of Holberg Road, approximately 1.7km from Highway 19, south of Port Hardy Township, Vancouver Island. Installation and all related infrastructure/equipment to be located within a 20m radius of the above noted coordinates.

Location Justification

- Accessibility and access to cellular communications
- Network density across Vancouver Island: Installation sites evenly-spaced at 30-50 km apart
- Horizon for the GNSS sensor by maximizing sky-view
- Bedrock for seismic instrumentation

Access

During the installation phase, several pickup trucks to be parked at the site. Other machinery as required such as picker truck or loader.

Seasonal Expectations of Use

During the installation phase, 2-5 employees to install infrastructure/equipment for a period of approximately 2-5 working days. Once complete, the system will operate autonomously year-round. Possible yearly maintenance may be required, and in such case, work will be minimal.

Existing Infrastructure/Services

None

Proposed Infrastructure/Equipment

All infrastructure/equipment to remain on location following the installation phase. (Appendix B)

Infrastructure/ Equipment	Size	Construction Methods/Materials
GNSS monument (structure)	Base: 1m sq	Stainless Steel pole bolted to bedrock, with a concrete with GNSS antenna (receiver)	Height: 2m H	base for reinforcement. GNSS antenna fixed to top of pole.
Seismic vault	0.5m sq	Fiberglass box bolted to concrete pad on top bedrock.
		Vault to house seismic sensor.
Seismic sensor		Seismic sensor housed in the seismic vault.
3-4 solar panel array	Total size:	Steel pole mounted to bedrock with a top of pole mount
	1.8m x 3m	solar panel bracket.
Cellular antenna	0.5m H	Fixed to the solar panel array
Batteries	3x 100 Ah sealed	3-day power-backup. Batteries housed in kiosk.
	AGM batteries
Electronics enclosure	.5m H x .45m W x	Enclosure will be mounted inside one of the Kiosks.
	.25m D
Kiosks (2)	1.2m sq	Kiosks to house batteries (for power) and communications management devices.

Water Supply

ONC will supply water as required.

Waste Collection Treatment and Disposal

A minimal amount of refuse expected to be generated during the installation phase: all non-biodegradable matter, garbage, installation debris to be collected and removed from the location following the installation phase. No waste to be generated during operational phase.

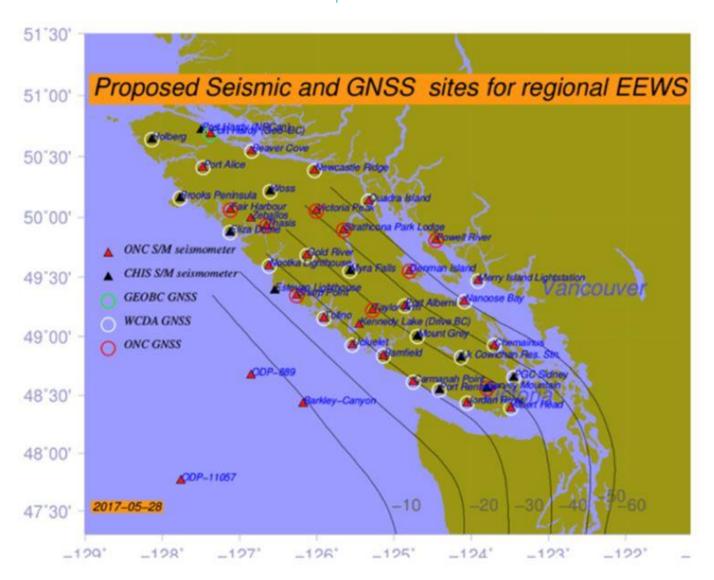

Tree Cutting/Topping

No trees need to be cut/topped.

Soil Disturbance

Minimal soil disturbance expected, so to expose bedrock for securing equipment to bedrock.

DISTRICT OF PORT HARDY STAFF REPORT

TO: Allison McCarrick, CAO

FROM: Heather Nelson-Smith, Director of Corporate Services

SUBJECT: Burning and Smoke Regulation Bylaw Amendment

DATE: March 4, 2019

BACKGROUND

The District of Port Hardy currently has an open burning and smoke regulation bylaw that permits 2 different sizes of fires besides campfires:

Category A Open Fire means an open fire that burns piled material no larger than 1 m in height and 1 m in diameter but does not include a campfire or recreational fire.

Category B Open Fire means an open fire in which burned material is piled larger than 1 metre in height and/or 1 metre in diameter and may include land clearing waste.

The regulations for each size of fire is as follows:

Control of Fires

- 5.1 Category A Open Fires shall only be permitted between 8:00 a.m. and sunset of the same day.
- 5.2 Category B Open Fires shall be for a maximum duration of three (3) consecutive days and there must be a minimum of fifteen (15) days between each Category B Open Fire.
- 5.3 A maximum of five (5) Category B Open Fires are permitted on any one property during the burning period described in section 3.5 of the bylaw.
- 5.4 A person who has been issued a permit under this bylaw must ensure that the fire is continuously supervised and controlled by a person who is at least nineteen (19) years old.
- 5.5 The supervisor must have emergency equipment that is immediately available and must be capable of controlling or putting out the fire to prevent danger, damage and injury to persons or property.
- 5.6 The District may, at its discretion, require that Air Curtain Burners be used for burning land clearing waste.

Category A fires are permitted anywhere in the District, and Category B fires are only permitted in zones outside of the residential corridor.

The current bylaw does not state a maximum size of a category B Open Fire. Staff are required to provide a permit for open burning and with no maximum size permitted fire listed in the bylaw the District could be opening itself to liability should the fire get out of control. In addition, a large fire can burn for longer than the permitted 3 days in the regulation.

The Ministry of Forests, Lands, Natural Resource Operations and Rural Development has two categories of fires other than a campfire:

Category 2 Fire:

- 1-2 concurrently burring piles no larger that 2 metres high by 3 metres wide.
- Stubble of grass burning over an area less than 0.2 hectares (2000 square metres).

Category 3 Fire:

- Any fire larger than 2 metres high by 3 metres wide.
- 3 or more concurrently burning piles no larger than 2 metres high by 3 metres wide.
- Stubble or grass burning over an area greater than 0.2 hectares (2000 square metres).

PROPOSED SOLUTION

Change the definition of Category B Fires to:

"Category B Open Fire means an open fire in which burned material is piled larger than 1 metre in height and/or 1 metre in diameter but not greater than 2 metres in height and/or 3 metres in width and may include land clearing waste."

Keep the regulations to allow for up to 5 piles to be burned per site in order to achieve land clearing for up to three days with 15 days in between each burn.

CHALLENGES

By changing the category B to have a maximum size, this will mean that those wishing to burn will either burn more regularly or they will have to use an Air Curtain Burner.

RECOMMENDATION

THAT Council endorse Bylaw 1093-2019 a Bylaw to Amend Open Burning and Smoke Control Bylaw No. 15-2012.
